

i'm so exciteeddd

Phew. I am almost caught up on everything so I can guiltlessly neglect the internet for a week while I REVISE. I have a new guestblog up on . It is basically an entry hating on The New Facebook disguised as an entry that includes a brief guide to social networking sites. Colleen is awesome for letting me use her blog to love Jeff Probst, renounce Jeff Probst and hate on The New Facebook. Actually, Colleen is awesome anyway. But we all knew that.

For those of you keeping track at home: 63/270 pages revised.

Here is a video that pretty much sums up how I feel about revisions most of the time:

I'm not on drugs though, I promise. Wasn't that a great episode? I secretly think life just got worse for Jessie Spano. She tried too hard.

Exciting news: C.K. Kelly Martin released her book trailer for One Lonely Degree. Oh my God, you guys. I can't wait for this book. Check it out. It's freaking awesome. I love the breaths and I love the "should I?"--it's like, BAM!

OKAY BACK TO REVISIONS.

cracks knuckles